The Invincibles as Poisoners.

(By cable to the Dispatch.)

DUBLIN, June 6,—It is rumored that the Invincibles have been extensively using poison in removing obnoxious persons. The police are investigating a number of cases of suspicious deaths which have occurred in the past few years, especially that of a hotel-keeper named Jury, of Dublin, who died a fortnight after the Pficenix-Park murders. From disclosures by informers the authorities do not doubt that Jury was poisoned. The reason alleged for Jury was poisoned in the letter contained directions in regard to a secret society. Fearing the vengance of the members of the society, Jury destroyed the letter. A waiter, however, informed Tvnan that Jury had received the letter for him. It is thought that Jury's removal was then decided upon.

Curran, divisional magistrate of the Dulin poice, has arrived in London, and is in consultation with the authorities relative to these suspected poisonings.
